

Eurobike Awards 2026 Honor the Most Innovative Products in the Bike and Mobility Industry

- 22 Eurobike Awards presented in seven categories
- Seven Gold Awards for particularly outstanding products
- Green Award for eco-friendly children's vehicle made in Germany
- Start-Up Award for foldable cargo bike from Australia

Frankfurt am Main – For the 20th time, Eurobike has presented its prestigious Eurobike Awards. In 2026, a total of 22 awards were given to products across seven competition categories, including seven Gold Awards for especially outstanding and innovative solutions. In addition, a Green Award was presented for a remarkably sustainable product made in Germany, and a Start-Up Award went to an Australian newcomer. Eurobike and fairnamic Managing Director Philipp Ferger sums up the significance of the Eurobike Award as follows: "This year's submissions impressively demonstrate how dynamically and solution-oriented the bicycle and mobility industry continues to evolve. The Eurobike Award makes this innovative strength visible and provides guidance in a market undergoing rapid technological and societal change. For many companies, the award is a key driver of international visibility and market success."

Since its introduction, the Eurobike Award has been regarded as one of the most prestigious honors in the international cycling and mobility industry. It highlights technological developments, sustainable concepts and new mobility solutions, offering guidance to industry professionals, retailers and consumers when it comes to the innovations of tomorrow.

Gold Award for exceptional products and solutions

From all the award-winning products and solutions, the international expert jury selected seven Gold Awards for particularly outstanding innovations. Among the evaluation criteria were degree of innovation, functionality, design, quality of workmanship, usability and sustainability.

All award winners, along with detailed jury commendations and product descriptions, can be found on the Eurobike website:

Green Award for wooden children's balance bike – Start-Up Award for foldable cargo bike

In 2026, the Green Award goes to the Germany-made children's balance bike "Mika" by manufacturer Smoovotech, produced using regionally sourced beech wood and recycled carbon composite material. In addition to its convincing ecological footprint, the jury particularly highlights the successful design.

The Australian company "Foldee" receives the Start-Up Award for its foldable cargo bike of the same name, featuring a large loading platform above the front wheel. According to the jury, Foldee enables people with limited storage space to easily access cargo bike mobility, thereby strengthening the potential of cargo bikes as a substitute for cars.
