1. Invest in the future

You will be engaging with a major on-trend topic. Bikes and lightweight, sustainable mobility belong to the future – as a key part of a healthy and sustainable lifestyle. Above all, they are at the heart of numerous sustainability- and future-orientated clusters. New social developments are shifting bikes into the focus of politics, town planning, and transport, but also lifestyle and urban culture. Legislation and initiatives at a European level are just one example of this.

For you as a company too, involvement in the topics of bikes and ecomobility is an important aspect in employer branding. Be part of the movement when the mobility of our entire society changes and benefit from the growth of this entire ecosystem.

2. Maximizing media presence

Our extensive media partnerships guarantee you maximized multimedia reach. We have developed a cross-media offer to present your brands and messages beyond your physical presence.

What's more, EUROBIKE is reported in the national and international press – in 2024 1222 media representatives attended from 30 countries.

In 2025, there will be an increased focus on broad media reporting and visibility for the entire programme and the Business Days in particular. You will reach a wide range of target groups and communities interested in bikes, sustainable mobility, bike travel, and conscious lifestyles. No other event enables you to position yourself in such a cross-generational manner.

3. Dynamic growth

While many mobility trade shows have struggled recently, EUROBIKE – the world's leading trade show for the bike industry and ecomobility sector – has been setting exhibitor and visitor records for years. EUROBIKE is the major event for the bike and mobility industry that offers bicycle enthusiasts, mobility fans and families an unforgettable live experience.

It's the opportunity to present your company!

4. Creating contacts and opportunities

EUROBIKE attracts highly interested visitors and affluent prospective buyers, plus well-informed B2B-relevant contacts from brands, industry, politics, associations, and the media. Numerous high-calibre specialist events at and around EUROBIKE support and promote professional exchange and knowledge sharing.

Few ecosystems are so highly focused on creating a liveable future – seize the opportunity to forge new contacts and develop innovative business models to strengthen your market position.
